ALL SKIN TYPES

Micellar water is one of the most essential products for skin care routines. One of the lightest types of cleansers is micellar. The name of this product is derived from micelles, which contain a concentration of mild surfactants in water and easily remove pollution particles, cosmetics, and sebum. Micellars are used with cotton pads and usually do not require rinsing. This product is suitable for all skin types, especially sensitive skin, and has an excellent performance in removing waterproof cosmetics. Micellar water is suitable for eyes and lips area, Some of them sometimes have hydrating ingredients that can increase hydration in the upper layers of the skin. Also, these hydrating compounds have beneficial effects on repairing the skin's defense barrier and in addition to maintaining hydration, it protects the skin from environmental damage.

This extract is known for its antibacterial and antimicrobial properties, which is used in skin care products, including toners and anti-acne products. Sodium hyaluronate is another effective ingredient in this toner, a salt of hyaluronic acid. Sodium hyaluronate is used in cosmetic products and it is used for hydrating and repairing the skin. This material quickly penetrates the skin and holds up to a thousand times its weight in water. Since the skin naturally loses water as it ages, sodium hyaluronate can replace some of the water lost in the dermis and effectively fight surface wrinkles and other signs of aging.
